the Glacier Pullman Express car and the other way in the rack rail car.

Travel to a height of 10,135 feet for the most incredible close-up view of the Matterhorn. The Gornergrat is located between the Gorner glacier and Findel glaciers. As you descend the mountain, you'll enjoy views of more than 20 peaks over 13,000 feet. Day 5: Furka Pass and Andermatt

After breakfast at the hotel, join the Pullman Glacier Express (two Pullman cars and a piano-bar car), and descend from Zermatt to Oberwald, where a postal bus will take you to lunch at the Hotel Glacier du Rhône.

After lunch, cross one of the most beautiful mountain passes in the world, the Furka Pass. The Dampfbahn Furka-Bergstrecke (Furka Cogwheel Steam Railway) is a largely volunteer-operated heritage railway which operates a mainly rack-and-pinion line across the Furka Pass. Rising to 7,086 feet above sea level, the line was decommissioned when it was made obsolete by the 9.5-mile Furka Base Tunnel. Trips such as ours, with original equipment, have brought new life to the famous pass.

On arrival in Realp, tour the railway workshops, and re-join the Pullman train for the short journey down to Andermatt.

Overnight at Hotel Chedi Andermatt. Meal Arrangements: B, L, D

Day 6: St. Moritz

After breakfast at the hotel, re-join the Pullman train (supplemented by two Gourmino dining cars), for a second crossing of the Oberalp. Mid-morning in Disentis, pause to visit the Benedictine Abbey, founded in 720 AD. Enjoy a tour of the Abbey led by one of the monks. Return for lunch on board as you travel down the Rhine Gorge to Chur, the oldest city in Switzerland. Enjoy a walking tour of the completely car-free city center.

Later in the afternoon, re-join the Pullman train for the journey up to St. Moritz. Travel through the Albula Pass between Filisur and St. Moritz, a UNESCO World Heritage Site.

Day 7: Tirano (Italy)

Today, travel Switzerland's famous Bernina Line to Tirano, Italy. From St. Moritz, use the Glacier Pullman Express cars, hauled by a unique and historic Bernina 'Crocodile' electric locomotive No. 182, built in 1928. The private train will allow you the freedom to make some photo stops along the way. This section of the Bernina Line is home to the incredible spiral stone viaduct at Brusio, where the train makes a tight, 360-degree corkscrew turn.

Once in Tirano, Italy, spend time enjoying the Valtellina Valley and visit the Triacco La Gatta Winery where lunch is served, before retracing our steps past St. Moritz and then through Davos and Klosters to Landquart via the 12-mile Vereina Tunnel.

From Kulm station, descend to Vitznau on Lake Lucerne, where you will enjoy a paddle steamer cruise from Vitznau to the town of Lucerne itself.

Visit the Swiss Rail Museum, or enjoy free time before traveling on to Interlaken. Check into the Victoria Jungfrau Grand Hotel & Spa for a four-night stay.

From here you have a choice. You can walk 1.2 miles through the spectacular Aareschlucht Gorge, then take a trip by funicular to Reichenbach Falls (made famous by Arthur Conan Doyle as the spot where he killed off both Sherlock Holmes and Professor Moriarty). Then visit the Sherlock Holmes Museum in Meiringen. Afterwards, re-join the steam train which will return to Interlaken.

Or, choose to enjoy a more leisurely day by going straight from Innertkirchen to Reichenbach Falls, where you will visit the Sherlock Holmes Museum. Then you'll have free time in Meiringen before returning to the train back to Interlaken.

Day 10: Jungfraujoch

Depart Interlaken by regular trains for Grindelwald and Kleine Scheidegg. Once at Kleine Scheidegg, choose between a leisurely morning with stunning Alpine views, or transfer to the Jungfrau Bahn, which, at 11,332 feet above sea level, is the highest railway station in Europe.

If weather permits, you can venture out onto the glaciers at the top of the mountain, then descend back to Kleine Scheidegg for lunch.
